UNIVERSITY

MAKE A REAL DIFFERENCE IN A GROWING INDUSTRY

According to the U.S. Department of Labor, health care is expected to generate approximately 3.2 million new wage and salary jobs through 2018—more than any other industry—and 10 of the 20 fastest-growing jobs are in the health care industry.² As the population grows older with greater than average health care needs, the demand for professionals with health sciences backgrounds is also expected to grow.² The demand for people like you.

Whether you are looking to pursue a new career or make a career change, Kaplan University's health science program could help.¹

MAKE A HEALTHY CAREER CHOICE BY PURSUING YOUR DEGREE

The Bachelor of Science in Health Science is designed to prepare graduates to pursue a variety of career opportunities in health care- and health science-related industries.¹ Through the development of administrative, ethical, and professional skills, you could be prepared to pursue leadership positions in health care. An original, comprehensive capstone project gives you the opportunity to apply your health science knowledge and skills to real-world scenarios.

Advancement opportunities may be greater for health science practitioners with higher education degrees. In fact, some positions are only open to those with a health science-focused education.³

Some possible occupations graduates could pursue include:

- Health services manager
- Patient coordinator
- Occupational health specialist
- Health officer
- Public health program manager
- Health advocate

DAY-TO-DAY ACTIVITIES WILL VARY BUT SOME OF THE TASKS THAT GRADUATES COULD PERFORM INCLUDE:¹

- Supervise and evaluate work activities of medical and technical personnel, nurses, and clerical staff
- Coordinate and implement services in health care or medical facilities
- Complete case histories by interviewing patients and contacting appropriate authorities
- Recommend and implement measures that can protect workers from potentially dangerous work environments
- Conduct safety and education programs

CUSTOMIZE YOUR DEGREE TO PREPARE FOR THE CAREER YOU WANT

Kaplan University's Bachelor of Science in Health Science program is designed to provide you with knowledge and skills in the broad areas of health science and health care. You will have the opportunity to apply principles of healthy living to the education of individuals and community. Plus, you could develop administrative, ethical, and professional skills that could enable you to pursue leadership positions in the increasingly diverse health care field.¹

Students enrolled in the Bachelor of Science in Health Science program may choose to further customize their degree by focusing their electives on a particular area of study, such as nutrition or health and wellness. It is a degree that lets you learn what you want to learn.

An accelerated Master of Health Care Administration or Master of Public Health option is available if you enroll in the Bachelor of Science in Health Science program. If you meet specified criteria and wish to continue on to pursue a Kaplan University Master of Health Care Administration or Master of Public Health, you may complete up to five graduate-level courses in place of undergraduate open electives. Once accepted to the chosen master's degree, you may matriculate into a shortened version of the graduate program.

Kaplan University's program curriculum emphasizes:

- Gaining an understanding of demography, epidemiology, biostatistics, and other tools used to assess community health
- Understanding and applying the concepts of health, healing, and wellness from a broad historical and multicultural perspective
- Employing the professional, ethical, and legal standards of health care practice and interdisciplinary collaboration through leadership and community stewardship
- Demonstrating competency in medical research and inquiry using scientific methods and laboratory skills for critical thinking and problem solving in health care settings

HERE IS WHAT ONE STUDENT HAD TO SAY

Michelle Parmeter⁴

- Kaplan University Graduate

“ I honestly, wholeheartedly can say I feel very confident in the quality of the education I received from Kaplan. I recommended my husband to go...He now attends Kaplan because he was able to see the changes that happened in me, the confidence that I take with me now. Kaplan University has been huge in my achieving my goals...I am the first person in my family to ever graduate with a bachelor's degree...I have four little girls and it was important for me to show them that it could be done...Kaplan has definitely made that possible. ”
